Soft Island

Designer: Sergio Bicego

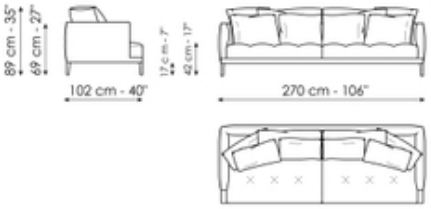

With its slender and minimalist overall image, the Soft Island contemporary sectional modern sofa represents comfort and refuge: with a deep seat, accompanied by a generous amount of cushions, it offers a way of sitting on the sofa that is always customisable. It is possible to choose between several solutions, with linear sofas, poufs, and compositions with corner pieces and chaise longues.
The wide body of the Soft Island sofa, with its clean and rigorous lines, accommodates a single long seat cushion, made with stitching that gives movement and elegance. The contrast with the numerous backrest cushions paradoxically enhances the perception of formal simplicity and composed comfort. Soft Island is also available with a metal frame that defines the base of the sofa, giving an extra touch of refinement and elegance. The upholstery of the Soft Island collection is completely removable and is available in fabric or leather. The subtle metal feet slim the composition and lighten its overall image.
