RUBIE

The inspiration for Rubie, a design by Hauke Murken and Sven Hansen, was a quilted blanket casually thrown over a wooden chair. The resulting chair is simple and light, but also elegant due to the voluminous quilting. This interplay between frugality and opulence makes Rubie the ideal seat for a variety of everyday situations, from morning coffee through to a big celebratory dinner.

MURKEN HANSEN

The design office Murken Hansen has been founded in 1999 in Berlin by Hauke Murken and Sven Hansen. Up until today they won several prizes for their creations in sections from kitchen to furniture. Their principles are clarity and simplicity. As their source of inspiration they state "idea-ping-pong" and knowingly thinking in the wrong directions.
