A union of modern silhouettes and nostalgic references

Normann Copenhagen presents Pind, a collection of chairs that harmoniously blends modern silhouettes with nostalgic references. Named after the defining wooden dowels in its design, Pind, the Danish word for wooden stick, encapsulates the spirit of iconic Shaker chairs from 19th-century America. Radiating timeless elegance, this furniture style is renowned for its slender and refined dowels delicately adorning the chair's backrest. With a clean and contemporary expression, Pind pays homage to the timeless artistry of traditional craftsmanship, bringing the classic wooden chair into the present. Designer Simon Legald elaborates, "The Pind chair collection is a study in seamlessly merging a classic chair with a contemporary design that meets the demands of the modern-day consumer."

Pind's design consists solely of solid wooden dowels, with the exception of the seat. The collection includes dining chairs with or without armrests, as well as bar stools in two heights. The backrest of Pind features a meticulously crafted elliptical curve, ensuring optimal comfort and improved back support. Gracefully supported by three subtly angled wooden dowels, the armrests harmonize with the backrest, further enhancing the chairs' aesthetic appeal.

Crafted from lacquered ash dowels and featuring an elegant ash veneer seat, Pind offers various captivating options. Choose from the classic version with a clear lacquer, the timeless variant with lacquer and black staining, or the sophisticated rendition with lacquer and dark brown staining. Each variant possesses distinctive allure and exceptional craftsmanship, capable of elevating any space.

In line with Normann Copenhagen's philosophy of uniting people and spaces, the Pind Chair Collection presents an uncomplicated and welcoming design that, with its modest yet timeless presence appeals to diverse individuals and environments, offering a seamless integration of style and functionality.
