

SERRALUNGA

Design: Denis Santachiara - 2000

PISA

If with Santavase, the ground could have been inclined and the flowerpot would remain upright, now, if the ground is flat, the flowerpot can be in no other position but slanted. In contrast with the plant, which grows vertically, the container known for its formal identity thanks to its border line which is not parallel to the soil. Everything else is up to the imagination, however, this border line alone, identifies the object.

Ø 51 x H.58 cm.
